RAIL SHOPMEN RESORT TO VIOLENCE

HOLD TROOPS OF ILLINOIS IN READINESS

Women's Auxiliary Of Shop Crafts Organizations Supporting Walk Out

ONE EMPLOYEE IS INJURED

All Seniority Rights Will Be Forfeited Unless Men Return to Work

By Associated Press
Chicago—With E. M. Jewell, head of the striking railway shop crafts, still maintaining the recalcitrant attitude he assumed after the strike was under way, but declining to make the first move towards negotiations for peace, an increasing number of outbreaks and disorders marked the closing hours of the first week since shopmen throughout the country walked out of their jobs last Saturday.

Federal injunctions restraining strikers from interfering with railroad operations, molesting workers and unlawfully picketing shops were issued at East St. Louis, Ill., and Shreveport, La.

ORDER MOBILIZATION

Mobilization of state troops was ordered by Adjutant-General Black of Illinois following disturbances in the Wabash yards at Decatur. The governor of Alabama, Kansas, Missouri and Iowa were asked to send troops to scenes of disorder and where peace was threatened in their states.

Chicago, in the past 24 hours experienced its first outbreaks of violence in connection with the strike. A mob of strikers and sympathizers, which included many women, attacked and attempted to burn the homes of two Illinois Central employees at Burnside who refused to join the walkout.

Squads of police dispersed the mob after Mrs. Julia Gabel, 59, wife of one of the Illinois Central men, held the attackers at bay with a revolver when they attempted to storm her home.

"You were all my friends once," she shouted at the mob, "but I'll kill the next one of you who throws a stone."

The mob leaders backed away from the porch where the determined woman stood with her menacing revolver until police arrived.

EMPLOYEE INJURED

An employee of the Baltimore and Ohio shops was in a critical condition in a hospital following an attack by strike sympathizers.

At Aurora, Ill., a crowd of strikers escorted a number of Negroes to the city limits. The Negroes had been sent from Chicago to work in the Burlington shops.

Despite numerous outbreaks by strikers there was a general impression in railroad circles that the trend of the strike was toward peace and hope was expressed that Mr. Jewell would be brought together with the United States labor board's two diplomats in mediation—Chairman Ben W. Hooper and W. L. McMenimen, one of the three labor members.

Railroads meanwhile, continued to employ new men to take jobs left by strikers and the ultimatum to return to work next week or forfeit all seniority and pension rights, stood effective in shops throughout the country.

SOME STRIKERS RETURN

Strikers were reported at various points to be straggling back to the old jobs in uncertain numbers and at St. Paul first negotiations looking toward a settlement of the strike on the Northern Pacific were begun between representatives of the shopmen and officials of the system.

Mr. Jewell exhibited telegrams from women's auxiliaries of shop crafts organizations expressing support of the strike. He also announced the first sympathetic walkout by exhibiting messages informing him that 2,500 moulders employed on railroads had joined the ranks of the strikers.

Announcement by the Union Pacific, Burlington and Northwestern systems that pensions and seniority rights would be forfeited unless the men returned to work immediately, were greeted by jeers from strikers at their meetings.

Champion Ball Fan Of Fair Sex Is In New York

By Associated Press
New York—New York Friday claimed feminine baseball fan in the country. She is Mrs. Helen Montgomery. While witnessing the first game of the doubleheader between the Yankees and Cleveland Thursday she was struck in the chest and knocked unconscious by a foul ball from the bat of Everett Scott.

"I don't want to go home," she said upon being revived. "I want to stay and see the second game."

She stayed. Furthermore she kept the ball for a souvenir and asked the Yankee shortstop to autograph it. Scotty smilingly obliged.

STATE TROOPS IN CONTROL OF IRISH UPRISING

Reports As To Whereabouts of Eamon De Valera Cannot Be Verified

By Associated Press
Belfast—All of the Irish midlands are now under control of the provisional government forces.

The fighting at Clonfin Castle and Rosmead House at Delvin, county Westmeath, ended with the surrender of the Republican garrisons to Captain Conlon of the free state forces.

A lorry load of ammunition was taken from both buildings. Plans also were discovered for the destruction of barracks and bridges.

Boyle, county Roscommon, was taken by national troops, after an attack lasting several days. The Republicans made their last stand in a hotel.

No trains have yet reached the west from Dublin.

Cathal Brugha, one of de Valera's chief lieutenants died Friday from the wounds he received on Wednesday while trying to fight his way clear at the surrender of the Republican garrisons in the Sackville street area.

BRITISH ARRIVE

London—It is predicted that the provisional government will need to enroll soldiers to the full strength allowed under the Anglo-Irish treaty and will then have none too many for the job of rounding up the guerrilla bands acting under orders of the republican headquarters.

The arrival in Cork harbor Thursday night of a small squadron of British warships lends additional color to these reports, as it is believed the vessels were sent in anticipation of serious trouble in that district and possible attacks on the British naval station there.

Republican headquarters at Malloy is issuing daily bulletins claiming the irregulars are holding large areas and making rapid progress in several districts but there are no means of sifting these or other reports from the south and southwest owing to the difficulties of communication.

The public is still kept guessing as to the whereabouts of Eamon de Valera. The latest report, published in Friday's Daily Mail, says he spent Thursday night at Brittas, a hamlet 11 miles south of Dublin. The report cannot be verified.

SEEKS DISARMAMENT IN SOUTH AMERICA

By Associated Press
Paris—The outstanding feature of the closing session of the league of nations disarmament commission here Friday was the announcement by Dr. Rivas Vicuna, Chilean ambassador at Paris, that Chile would demand the inclusion in the agenda of the fifty pan-American conference to be held next March in Santiago, of the whole question of world disarmament, both naval and military.

Dr. Vicuna said Chile would use the Washington conference as the basis for her program. He explained that Chile was making an effort to bring about disarmament in South America. The commission decided upon an appeal to the thinking people of the world to assist in bringing about disarmament.

DOLLAR ADVANCES IN PARIS EXCHANGE MARKET

By Associated Press
Paris—The dollar made a tremendous jump in value overnight on the Paris exchange market, opening at 127.5 francs as compared with Thursday's closing price of 122.6.

NO AGREEMENT REACHED YET IN COAL STRIKE

Hopes Held Out For Settlement Following Next Monday's Conference

By Associated Press
Washington—Decision of the anthracite coal mine operators and union representatives to meet again Friday was taken as an indication at least of continued hope of reaching an agreement through the conference called by President Harding to consider methods of securing a resumption of work in the industry. No statement was forthcoming from either side, however, as to the trend of developments on adjournment of Thursday's meeting, which was said to have been without definite results.

The bituminous strike situation, which will be taken up again Monday, is pressing itself upon the attention of officials as to the matter of the public's coal supply. The chief concern is felt over the present curtailment of shipments from the northwest, failure to receive the usual supply transported by the Great Lakes in summer, it is considered, raising the possibility of congested railroads next winter.

CLOTURE MOVE ON TARIFF MEASURE FAILS IN SENATE

Senator Lenroot Voted for Motion and Senator La Follette Against It

By Associated Press
Washington—The Republican move to enforce cloture on the administration tariff failed Friday in the senate. The vote on the motion to enforce the existing rule was 45 to 35 or nine less than the required two-thirds majority.

The Democrats voted solidly against the motion and were joined by five Republicans. Senator Lenroot voted for the motion and Senator La Follette voted against it.

Sensors Newberry and Townsend of Michigan voted for the motion.

FATE OF TOBACCO POOL WITH GROWERS

By Associated Press
Madison—Tobacco growers of Wisconsin will know Saturday whether the present year's crop will be cooperatively marketed through their own northern Wisconsin tobacco pool or whether they will again enter the market as individuals to dispose of their product at prevailing prices.

The state department of markets is meeting Friday with temporary district chairman of the proposed pool to check contracts made with farmers who have agreed to enter the marketing organization. Unless 75 per cent of Wisconsin's 50,000 acres of tobacco has been contracted for the pool will not be placed in operation during this year.

TO ALLOW DRY AGENTS ON SHIPS 18 MILES OUT

Washington—Prohibition enforcement officers could board and search vessels within six marine leagues (18 geographical miles) of the coast of the United States under an amendment to the tariff bill proposed Friday by Senator Sterling, Republican, South Dakota, a member of the judiciary committee.

The amendment was ordered to lie on the table and cannot be considered until the committee amendments to the measure have been disposed of.

BRITISH GREET TAFT WITH MUCH HOSPITALITY

By Associated Press
Cambridge—Chief Justice Taft, nearing the end of his visit to England, has asked the Associated Press to inform the American people of the splendid reception and glowing hospitality he has received from the British. Before leaving Friday night for Aberdeen, Scotland, where he will receive another honorary degree, he said.

Pry Open Steel Safe; Escape With $1,100

Robbers Get Big Haul from Joseph Jones Soft Drink Parlor—Safe Is Opened Without Use of Explosives.

Forcing open a heavy steel safe without the use of explosive, robbers succeeded in making their escape Thursday night after taking more than $1,100 from the Joseph Jones soft drink establishment, 729 College-ave. Several suspects were taken into custody Friday morning by the police, but none could be identified as being connected with the crime.

The work of the robbers appeared to be painstaking and accompanied by more or less noise, but Roy Myse, an employee of Mr. Jones, and his family asleep in the apartments overheard nothing.

LA FOLLETTE TO OPEN CAMPAIGN IN MILWAUKEE

Itinerary of Senior Senator's Campaign Will Be Made Public Later

By Associated Press
Madison—Senator Robert M. La Follette will open his campaign for reelection with a keynote address at Milwaukee, July 17, it was announced at his headquarters here Friday. A hotly debated speech, the senior Wisconsin senator will make an automobile tour of the state in what he expects to be his most intensive campaign of his political career.

Senator La Follette returns to Madison on July 15 from Washington to make first arrangements for his speaking tour. From that time until the general election primaries on September 5, he plans to carry his contest for reelection to the people of the state.

TWO UNDERGROUND STILL ARE FOUND

By Associated Press
Milwaukee—Two subterranean moonshine distilleries were discovered Thursday by federal and state prohibition officials, according to reports at the federal building Friday.

In the first raid, conducted by federal agents in the town of Wauwatosa a secret room under ground opening off the basement of the home of Jacob Pimper was found to contain two stills in operation, three stills that had been closed down temporarily, seven barrels of mash, approximately 350 gallons, and 50 gallons of perfect moonshine whisky ready for sale.

Pimper was arrested.

The second subterranean still room was discovered in Kenosha at the home of Tony Walantayus. Three barrels of mash and a still were in the room. Mrs. Walantayus told the agents that the still and mash belonged to a boarder, Tony Waurus.

FLYER KILLED WHEN PLANE HITS HANGAR

By Associated Press
Detroit—A sharp turn made in an effort to avoid striking a hanger led to the death of Captain George C. Tinsley, 28 years old, of the army air service, who crashed to earth with a plane while flying at Selfridge Field, Mount Clemens, near here late Thursday, the motor dying during the maneuver, according to an unofficial report from the field Friday.

The craft fell 150 feet and burst into flames as it struck the ground. The flier was dead when spectators succeeded in extinguishing the fire.

ILLINOIS CROPS SUFFER FROM LACK OF RAIN

By Associated Press
Chicago—Promised relief from the drought which has been searing crops in northern Illinois was blown away by the wind Friday morning. Heavy clouds broke into black blotches in the day and Prof. H. J. Cox, the government forecaster refused to predict any relief for this section but pointed out that Iowa and Wisconsin had reported heavy showers which relieved the acute need for rain to save the crops.

DEMOCRATS IN SENATE WON'T DELAY TARIFF

Underwood Quoted as Saying That Minority Has No Intention of Filibuster

WILL HURT REPUBLICANS

Twelve Hundred Amendments To Measure Are Still To Be Considered by Senate

By DAVID LAWRENCE
Copyright, 1932, by Post Pub. Co.
Washington—If the Democrats really wanted to delay the passage of the pending tariff bill, the adoption of a dozen closure rules couldn't prevent it. There are more than 1,200 amendments proposed by the Republican members of the senate finance committee and all the Democrats would have to do would be to demand a roll call on each amendment when the vote is taken or call for a quorum and the actual time consumed in that process irrespective of incidental debate would postpone the final vote for at least two or three months.

But Senator Underwood, Democratic leader, told this correspondent Thursday that the Democrats have absolutely no intention of filibustering by that method or any other. He insisted that the adoption of the closure rule would hurt the Republicans more than it would help them because by limiting the debate to one hour for each senator it would be impossible for the bill to get thorough consideration.

MANY AMENDMENTS

Few men in the senate are equipped with sufficient information to debate a tariff bill. The rank and file depends upon the experts to do the debating. While much of the talk is futile as the Republicans have enough votes to pass any bill they please nevertheless the record of the debate thus far shows that as a consequence of discussion the Republicans have corrected many of their own mistakes and in some cases the Republican majority has failed to support the finance committee recommendation and beaten their amendments. Twelve hundred amendments are still to be considered. They did not come from the Democrats but from the Republican members of the finance committee. Should a closure rule be enforced most of these amendments would be passed over without debate on their merits.

WILL HURT REPUBLICANS

Apart from the extensive Republican amendments the Democrats have not had a chance to present any at all. They naturally want the opportunity that is given a minority party to make out a case against the bill and justify their votes. Indeed, the Democrats would rather have that chance than see the bill defeated for they figure the passage of the bill will be of political value to them at the polls this autumn just as the minority party has always benefited at an election immediately after the passage of a tariff law.

RUSS FOREIGN MINISTER SUFFERS NERVOUS BREAK

Geneva—George Tchitcherine, Russian Soviet foreign minister who headed the Soviet delegation to the Geneva conference, has entered a private hospital suffering from a nervous breakdown, according to dispatches Friday from Innsbruck, Austria, reporting his arrival there Wednesday. The dispatches said he had received many letters and telegrams but was not permitted to do any work.

Lack Of Funds Is Given As Reason

Lake-st. Selected as Proper Site But Commission Has Insufficient Funds to Pay State's Share of Cost

Appleton will not be given state and county aid for construction of a bridge over the Fox river. This was announced Friday morning by M. W. Torkelson, bridge engineer for the Wisconsin Highway commission. The detailed report of the commission has been prepared and will be mailed to Appleton later in the day. Lack of funds available for bridge construction was the reason given for declining the aid.

Mr. Torkelson, in summarizing the findings of the commission, said the commission had decided on Lake-st. as the proper place for locating the bridge. The Cherry-st. location, the commission, decided, would not serve Appleton's purpose.

Two Princesses Advertise For Rich Husbands

Geneva—"Two royal princesses, sisters, aged 23 and 26, desire friendship and eventually marriage, after mutual tests with English or American gentlemen, who must be young, wealthy and handsome, especially not upstarts or newly rich" reads an advertisement in an Innsbruck newspaper.

"The princesses, who belong to the old royalty, are accomplished but very poor. The gentlemen must give full details and references. A meeting could be arranged for August."

It may be recalled that an Austrian archduchess advertised in a similar manner about a year ago and, it is believed, found a suitable husband.

PRINTERS OF GERMANY ARE ON STRIKE

Only Communist and Socialist Newspapers Are Permitted To Be Published

By Associated Press
Berlin—The Communist and Socialist Democratic parties have addressed a joint appeal to the German people's party inviting the latter to enter the government coalition as the need of the hour demands the enrollment of all the national elements who are willing to lend active aid in the work of safeguarding and building up the republic.

As a result of the appeal the parliamentary situation has become still more confused. There is little prospect of reconciliation between the two Socialist parties and the People's party.

Selection of a successor to the late Dr. Rathenau as foreign minister also presents difficulties unless President Ebert and Chancellor Wirth can decide upon appointment of some diplomatic official who is wholly without party affiliations.

Belin continues without bourgeois newspapers, the striking printers only permitting the appearance of the Socialist and Communist organs. The strike threatens to spread throughout Germany, tying up all but the radical press.

During the second quarter the state inspectors of hotels and restaurants made 202 inspections of hotels and issued 62 orders. On the safety side there were issued 44 "industrial" orders to reduce dangers from fire and accident.

FORGER GIVEN THREE YEAR PRISON SENTENCE

Waukesha—Ervin Stevens, 22, Stoughton, who confessed forging an uncle's name to two certificates of deposit for $1,600, Friday was sentenced to three years in Waupun prison by Judge James E. Thomas in municipal court.

The minimum sentence was given the youth, who was injured while in training at a Texas military camp and was recently discharged from a San Antonio hospital. He at first told the court he had been wounded overseas, but broke down and admitted the story was false when his discharge papers were examined.

SLAUGHTER 279 HEAD OF CATTLE; ALL TUBERCULAR

Inspectors Test 5,000 Cattle in
250 Herds and Find 279
Reactors

Two hundred seventy-nine head of cattle, conservatively valued at $25,000, were shipped from Outagamie co. this week to Milwaukee where they were slaughtered because they reacted to tuberculin tests made by Dr. Theodore Knapstein, Greenville, and federal inspectors, during the spring and winter. Several farmers were in Milwaukee yesterday to witness the slaughtering and they found on examining the carcasses that all of the condemned cattle were infected.

About 250 herds of cattle in the towns of Greenville, Ellington, Dale, Center and Grand Chute, were tested during the spring and winter and one or more reactors were found in 70 herds, indicating that a vast majority of herds are free from the disease. About 5,000 cattle were tested and 279 reactors found.

State health authorities report that between 4 1/2 and 5 per cent of all the cattle in the state are tubercular and tests in this county indicate that is about the proportion here.

Two farmers lost their entire herds because all or nearly all of the cattle were infected. The entire herds were disposed of in order to wipe out the plague entirely and get a fresh start. All but 13 of the cattle slaughtered in Milwaukee yesterday were fit for consumption as meat. Farmers are paid for the carcass value of the condemned cattle by the packers and the state will pay half the difference between the carcass value and the appraised value of the animal up to $40, so the farmers as a general rule do not suffer complete loss.

While most of the condemned cattle were tested during the winter and spring they were not sent to the slaughtering pens because the state had exhausted its appropriation for indemnities and the fund was not replenished until July 1. Most of the condemned cattle were isolated from others in the herds and all were shipped at one time from Greenville this week.

BALLIET LAUGHS AT "JOKER" IN BRIDGE AID LAW

City's Share of County Bridge Tax Less Than Interest on County-State Aid

Appleton should not be frightened by the announcement by Fred V. Helmermann, district attorney, that acceptance of county and state aid for the construction of a bridge over the Fox river would be a continued burden to the city, according to Stephen Balliet who was one of the supporters of the Cherry street project at the last bridge hearing before the state highway commission in Appleton.

"The estimate of the cost of construction submitted by the highway commission," said Mr. Balliet, "is $330,000 for the Cherry street viaduct and $783,000 for the Lake street viaduct. Neither includes the cost of carlines. If the commission decides in favor of the Cherry street bridge the city should not be reluctant about accepting state and county aid. Granted that the bridge thus built becomes subject to taxation by the county for the construction and repair of bridges it will build in the future that is not nearly so terrible as it sounds."

"I make it that the county annually appropriates an average of $30,000 for bridge construction and repair. If the city is taxed one third of this amount the payment would still be less than the annual interest it would have to pay on bonds equaling county and state aid should the city be left to build the bridge with its own funds. The city has at present a bridge fund of $100,000. To build the Cherry street viaduct at $330,000 it would have to raise a bond issue of $230,000. Interest at 5 per cent would hardly amount to that in any normal year."

"Appleton needs the bridge now. A bridge built now would serve the city a great deal more than if it were built several years hence. The money is available now and should be made use of provided, the state aid is granted."

CONTRACT DISEASE WHILE IN OSHKOSH

One more case of small pox has been reported to Dr. W. C. Felton, city health commissioner. There are now two cases in the city, both being on Oklahoma avenue and both contracted the disease in Oshkosh. The Oshkosh families were not quarantined, it was said.

Dr. Felton does not expect spread of the disease but is taking every precaution in every case. Two cases of small pox is a very low record, he said, but there should not be any. If the Oshkosh families had been reported to the physicians the Appleton persons would not have become exposed to the disease.

The only other cases of contagion in Appleton are one case of diphtheria and one of scarlet fever.

Thomas Flanagan, superintendent of the county insane asylum, is in Milwaukee on business.

Study the Three Greatest American Documents

There are three documents with which every American should be familiar—the Declaration of Independence proclaimed on July 4, 1776; the Articles of Confederation providing for a Union of the States; and the Constitution of the United States which is the highest law of the land.

A thorough understanding of the history and government of this country is not possible without a knowledge of these three historic papers.

Our readers are offered—entirely free—a remarkable booklet containing not only these three documents but interesting remarks by the leading constitutional and historical authorities telling how they were drawn.

Frederic J. Haskin, Director, The Appleton Post-Crescent Information Bureau, Washington, D. C. I enclose herewith two cents in stamps for return postage on a free copy of the Constitution Booklet.

Can Appleton Women Live Comfortably On $2,600 A Year? How Do You Do It?

Interviews With Local Women Say It Can't Be Done—Contest Editor Invites Letters on the Subject.

Can you run your family comfortably on $2,600 a year? That is the question which a Post-Crescent reporter asked several housewives in Appleton and the result was amazing. The women admitted that they had got along with considerably less than that amount, but that they did not feel that they had lived comfortably.

WRITE YOUR VIEWS
Is it true that Appleton women require $2,600 a year on which to run their homes and live comfortably? Can you do it on less? What is your idea of the essentials on living comfortably? Appleton women interviewed on the amount set by representations of the railroad employees on the United States Railroad labor board said it was certainly not more than enough. Write to the Contest Editor of the Post-Crescent and refute their statements if they are not true. All communications must be signed but your identity will not be disclosed in any way.

They considered that there had been too much personal sacrifice necessary to warrant the use of the word "comfortable."

The Post-Crescent believes that there are many women in Appleton who will deny the statements made by the women interviewed. Undoubtedly there are couples in Appleton who never have had a yearly income of more than $2,600 a year who not only own their own homes but who drive cars and many of these not the least expensive cars. There are still other couples in Appleton who have educated and are educating several children, whose income does not amount to $2,600.

DODGE BUDGETING
One woman who is an enthusiastic budgeter told the reporter that in her experience women are inane in discussing the amount of money on which they can run their homes. They hide behind the statement that their husbands pay the bills, that they know nothing of what it costs to run the place. It was a complete surprise to the reporter to find the large percentage of women who answered the financial question with that lame excuse.

The points made by the women were the high price of rents, the high cost of groceries, the amount of money which children take when they are going to school, the likelihood of enormous doctor bills for some children. Some of the women did not feel that a car had to be included for comfortable living. Others felt that it did. Some women are willing to do their own washing and ironing. Others are not. Some women feel that they must have a maid especially if there are children in the family while others are content to do their own housework.

LET'S HEAR FROM YOU
Surely there are a great many Post-Crescent readers who do not agree and the Contest Editor is anxious to hear from them. When you write your opinion be sure to include some idea what you consider "comfort." In your household plan which you run for less than $2,600 a

SPECIAL CARE IS URGED TO PREVENT RAIL ACCIDENTS

Soo Line Requests All Employees To Cooperate During Safety Campaign

Appleton employees of the Soo Line have received a circular letter from A. A. Wallace, general manager requesting that safety rules be particularly observed during the months of July, August and September during the national careful crossing campaign. Each railroad is required to report every two weeks to the American Railway association the number of grade crossing accidents and every effort is being made to give the Soo Line a minimum of such accidents to report the letter said.

All safety committee men are urged to report unsafe crossing conditions and to post conspicuous three colored safety posters in prominent places. Enginemen are asked to keep a keen watch whenever the engine is approaching crossings and to sound the whistle so that no automobile can fail to hear it when approaching the crossing. Firemen are urged to assist in this.

Maintenance of way men are ordered to make frequent inspection of crossings and see that there are no loose planks or protruding spikes. Crossing attendants are urged also to use more than ordinary care in the discharge of their duties.

Trainmen are asked to stand guard especially at night when cuts of cars are shovelled over crossings.

Mrs. E. R. Schunk of Marshfield was a visitor in this city Thursday. Fred Glasbrenner of Grand Chute is having a new barn erected on his farm.

Write it at once to the Contest Editor. Remember that your identity will not be disclosed to any one in any way but your letters must be signed as an evidence of good faith. Do it now. Perhaps you will be able to show these women that they can save money.

THE NEWBERRY ISSUE IN MICHIGAN

The senatorial contest in Michigan is one of the noteworthy of the many important campaigns for this office throughout the United States. "Newberryism" is the issue which is dividing Michigan Republicans. Senator Townsend, who voted for the seating of his colleague and who announces he is prepared to justify his vote, is on the defensive in his candidacy for re-nomination. He is opposed by Representative Patrick Kelley of Lansing and Major John G. Emery of Grand Rapids, former national commander of the American Legion. Kelly is an old time politician, who has been in public office for a generation or more, and some question has been raised as to the sincerity of his attacks on Townsend because of past differences. However, Major Emery is credited with complete honesty and he is making a conspicuous fight for the nomination. He is basing his contest almost solely on Newberryism. He is a hard campaigner and his candidacy has attracted widespread attention.

Whether the forces of clean politics in Michigan have been divided by the three-cornered competition to the extent that the Newberry element will prevail cannot of course be told until after the primaries in September, but we believe that a majority sentiment in Michigan is of the opinion that Newberry ought to be repudiated. So far as the country at large is concerned there can be no question about this. We think the general opinion is that Townsend ought to be defeated on the one issue of his vote for Newberry. We think it is enough to warrant the defeat of any senatorial candidate who countenanced this disgraceful surrender to money and reaction, and certainly it applies with special emphasis in Michigan.

Indeed, we think the principle at stake is of such great public concern that the defeat of the men who stood for Newberryism is more important than the election of a successor. We believe in Michigan it is of less importance to the good name of that state who succeeds Townsend than that Townsend should be eliminated. Mr. McCumber has placed himself in a similar position by his exhibition of partisanship in North Dakota, even though it means the election of Frasier, the Non-Partisan league candidate, to succeed him. If North Dakota has no better man to send to the senate than Frasier, that is its own lookout. If Michigan has no better man than Townsend to send to the senate in his place, that also is its lookout. Certainly it will be better off without a representative who voted to seat Newberry, and ultimately Michigan will have to get rid of Newberry as well, for his presence in the senate is a standing affront to good government and political morality. The country at large hopes to see Townsend retired to private life quite regardless of who succeeds him. It also wants to see Newberry forced out of the senate. The Newberry issue will never be settled until these things are done.

GOVERNMENT BY THE PEOPLE

The mayor of Youngstown, Ohio, Mr. George L. Oles, resigned his office because, as he said, he was "tired of being bossed by a bunch of politicians." Prominent men and women called at his home and urged him to withdraw his resignation, which was to be effective at midnight. In the morning the city council elected a successor, on the ground that the office had been vacant legally for several hours. Now Oles is trying to regain his office.

Misgovernment is not a political condition in civic affairs. It is a community failing. The people may not have the kind of government that they want, but they generally procure the kind they deserve. If politicians control the municipality, and if civic questions are determined as partisan or spoils issues, the explanation is that the politicians are more interested in the city than are the respectable voters, rich and poor. The politicians are active, while the citizenship is passive.

The city administration is typical of community standards. It may not be indicative of private enterprise, but it is of public sentiment. The government is either what the people demand, or what they countenance. In most cities the people, when they do take a live interest in civic matters, show this interest only at election time, and then only rarely. After they elect officers to their liking, they cease to be concerned in municipal administration, and focus their attention on their own business.

Efficient city government cannot be maintained by public servants alone. The people must keep informed about their own corporation's affairs, and they owe advice and cooperation to officers on whom they have imposed responsibility. Public officers owe specific obligations to the public. It is not realized generally, though it should be, that the public in turn is under continuous obligation to its agents. The interest which the members of every community should manifest in their government is not limited to campaigns and elections. If the people desire good government, they must display their civic interest between elections, and, in fact, at all times. Good government is just as much due to public interest as to official fidelity and performance.

A peculiar contradiction in municipal life is that the people constantly complain about the kind of city government they receive, and yet do nothing to improve it. They protest against taxes and do not raise their hands to see that public revenues are wisely and economically expended. They are irritated by the misfeasance of politicians and by public vices and other abuses, and they refuse to assume the responsibility in the matter which is properly theirs. As a general proposition, people in every city have the kind of government they merit. Whether that government is good or bad, efficient or inefficient, progressive or reactionary, is wholly within their control.

DOES RUM OR PROHIBITION FOLLOW THE FLAG?

Does rum follow the flag, or does prohibition? Secretary Mellon has referred this crucial question to Attorney-General Daugherty for a legal opinion. The point raised by Mr. Adolphus Busch as to whether the United States government was not guilty of violating the 18th amendment when it permitted and advertised the sale of liquors on the United States shipping board vessels, will not down. It has resulted in the introduction of a measure in congress to prohibit entrance to the United States of any foreign vessels which carry intoxicating liquors.

Attorney General Palmer issued a ruling that liquor carried as "sea stores" and properly sealed, cannot be seized within the three mile limit. Later Acting Attorney-General Nebecker held that the storage of any liquors, sealed or unsealed, within the three mile limit, either on American or foreign ships, was in violation of the Volstead act. Still later the supreme court, in the case of Brogan, Collector of Internal Revenue, vs. Hiram Walker & Sons, Limited, held that it is unlawful to transport intoxicating liquors through United States territory, even though the shipment originates at a foreign point and is destined to a foreign point.

From this it would appear that there is no escape for the United States shipping board. It will have to navigate its vessels dry, or tie them up in the face of wet European competition, unless congress makes the foreign vessels scuttle their liquor, too. Even if shipping board ships are not United States territory while on the high seas it seems to be quite clear that when they are inside the three mile limit it is unlawful for them to carry intoxicating liquors of any kind, sealed or unsealed.

If Attorney-General Daugherty can serve Mr. Mellon or Chairman Lasker of the Shipping board by a ruling on the deep sea rum question that will permit American vessels to carry booze, he will certainly distinguish himself. He would immediately become the favorite of the liquor interests as a candidate for the United States supreme court, possibly for the presidency. We do not know how subtle a reasoner the attorney general is, but the problem put up to him would tax the ingenuity of even a lawyer from Philadelphia. It may be that the life or death of the American merchant marine is bound up in the question, as contended by Mr. Lasker, but we cannot advertise ourselves to the world as a nation of hypocrites. It has always been a pet theory of the American people that the constitution follows the flag, and if that is the case the liquor on the shipping board vessels will have to be dumped into the ocean. Finally, what will be the use of enacting a ship subsidy law if prohibition makes it impossible to operate a dry American merchant marine in competition with wet foreign carriers?

Perspiring Feet

Excessive sweating of the feet is an annoying complaint these days. The stockings and the shoe leather itself become damp, and an odor, due to bacterial growth, is created. As to the cause, all we can say is that the national sin of wearing creek footwear is enough to cause almost any foot complaint that may be encountered.

In mild cases relief is obtained by a change of stockings twice a day and the application of a powder made by equal parts of boric and salicylic acid.

If the shoe leather of the uppers is damp, the shoes also should be changed twice a day. If only the soles are damp, the use of cork insoles, a fresh pair each time the stockings are changed, is sufficient.

The habit of bathing the feet in hot water, with a view to destroying the odor, is a mistake. As already stated, the odor is produced by bacterial activity, and any degree of heat the feet may endure can not seriously disturb the germs. Better to bathe the feet with tepid or cold water, or still better alternate dashes of hot and cold finishing with cold, then dry, rub with a little alcohol, and powder.

In cases which resist this management, further efforts may be successful. Between the toes is a prolific region of bacterial growth. The moisture here favors bacterial growth. Keep the toes separated with bits of absorbent cotton or with little strips of gauze. Go barefoot at every opportunity, and expose feet and legs to direct sunlight, the least irritating and most powerful of all germicides.

Occasionally smearing glycerin upon the soles of the feet is helpful.

Prolonged soaking of the feet in a solution of mercuric iodine, one five-thousandth every two or three days, 20 minutes at least, is second only to similar saturation of the skin with the sunlight.

Sir William Osler recommended the internal administration of alkalis for excessive sweating of the feet or other parts of the body. A comparatively harmless alkali for such purpose would be the citrate of sodium, of which perhaps half a teaspoonful three or four times a day, taken dissolved in half a glass of water, is a moderate dose.

Excessive sweating of the feet is most frequently complained of by persons whose general health is below par, or whose feet are suffering from the effects of faulty shoes.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

To Vaccinate or Not
Our little girl is 2 years old. Next year she is to enter kindergarten, and must be vaccinated. We don't believe in vaccination. We have seen numerous articles telling of its dangers. Will you kindly give us your opinion?—M. A. M.

Answer—I don't revel in it either. But the millennium is a long way off, and until it arrives I suppose smallpox will be peddled around gratuitously among non-immunes. So I vaccinate my own children, and any others whose parents request it.

Rhubarb
Please inform me whether rhubarb would be harmful for a 3 year old child.—E. S. P.
Answer—No. Rhubarb is a very wholesome article of diet. Just be sure it is thoroughly stewed.

Don't Worry—Act
Lately I have noticed that the glands of my neck are somewhat enlarged, and my neck is rather sore and stiff. Are these symptoms one should worry about?—Miss M. R. G.

Answer—No. Never worry about symptoms. It is a needless business. Go to your dentist and see if there is a latent abscess at the root of a tooth—have X-ray film made if necessary. If teeth are found free from trouble, then let your doctor look to the tonsils and nasal cavity for a cause of the glands.

Resume of American and Foreign Newspaper Opinion

VERDICT AT HERRIN IS CONDEMNED

Universal condemnation has marked the receipt of the verdict of the coronor's jury in the Herrin mine killings. The effort on the part of that body to place sole responsibility on the murdered mine superintendent generally is denounced and editors call upon the Federal Government to initiate a complete investigation and to set in motion the machinery adequately to punish those responsible. The verdict, says the Boston TRAVELER "is an amazing specimen of what men sometimes do when their faculties are controlled by emotions rather than a desire for justice. State and federal pressure should be brought to bear upon the self indicted county until justice has been enthroned there in place of sentiment." While the question of blame for the conditions which preceded the riot may be at the door of the mine owners the Newark NEWS points out that, after the mine had been stormed and prisoners taken, "given or implied there was a pledge of safe conduct. Williamson county dominated by the union, not only to the suppression of law, but of the law's officers, requires to be converted to the assured control of laws administered by men who wear no shackle that does not bind them to their duty." The jury decision also convinces, that necessary facts have been concealed, the Milwaukee SENTINEL contends because, "if the jury's verdict represents as the corner says, the united sentiment of Williamson county, it should be supplemented by an investigation that will elicit all the facts."

The findings must not be allowed to end this matter, the Kansas City JOURNAL insists, as the murders "cannot be looked upon as incidents in this county. They can never be closed until the doors of penitentiaries or death chambers close upon those who savagely slew innocent men working to earn an honest living pursuant to rights abundantly guaranteed, but apparently without effective affirmation by the higher courts of the land." The union leaders, the Chicago TRIBUNE is convinced, are trying to dodge blame by accusing profiteers of creating a condition which brought about the murders, insisting "such attempts are absurd and wearisome. No such attempt to dodge the responsibility for the massacre can be successful. If war profits were a justifiable for massacring the victims of Herrin, the noble privilege of massacring belongs to the public not to the miners." The verdict likewise constitutes "a challenge to government," the New York WORLD points out and more important than any settlement of the coal strike "is the vindication of public order and the discomfiture of private vengeance that would substitute the rifle and the torch for the scales and staff of justice."

"The shame and the menace are not alone in Illinois, not alone to the nation," the Omaha WORLD HERALD points out, "but to the whole of enlightened society. Americans who are ashamed of citizens, however selfish they may be as individuals, should need to look only to Southern Illinois to come wide awake—and to a deep sense of shame." Endorsement of a complete, impartial investigation also comes from the Indianapolis NEWS which feels certain that "the idea that such a tragedy should occur in such a community without anyone knowing who was responsible for the actual killing of the men whose bodies were scattered over the surrounding country is inconceivable." But, after all, the Springfield REPUBLICAN points out, the return of the coronor's jury "is chiefly valuable as a reflection of public opinion in the vicinity concerning the conduct of the mine since it was reopened for operation by strike breakers."

That "the horror with which the country views this dreadful affair will be shared by all law-abiding men in ranks of union labor," is the opinion of the Seattle TIMES which also is convinced that "unionism as a whole is not to be held responsible and the fact that the mob acted ostensibly as a union agency cannot be considered as evidence that its frightfulness is either condoned or indorsed by the vast majority of men in the trade or organizations." But the Knoxville SENTINEL is inclined to ask why "there was an entire abdication, break-down or paralysis of the functions of government from the Federal authorities in Washington down to the sheriffs and constables of the county" in the face of the evidence that the murders were being planned? And the Roanoke WORLD NEWS suggests that "when groups of factions begin taking the law into their own hands and committing cold blooded and savage murders in order to force their ends, the world is headed straight toward chaos. Whether in London or Herrin the laws must be respected and upheld."

The New York TIMES is inclined to feel that, with the return of the decision of the coronor's jury, the massacre is a "closed incident." The little state of Williamson county is secure in its suicidal pre-eminence. For a little while, perhaps, there will be more than the usual talk about "respecting the law; but the mass of the people will continue to be apathetic. The politicians will continue to be cowardly. We shall continue to lick our chops with self-satisfaction at the form of our government, and pay scanty heed to the ugly facts that so often contradict it and are locally superior to it." Regardless of the verdict, however, the Washington STAR emphatically asserts that "the massacre must stand as one of the most flagrant violations of justice yet recorded in this country," while the Pittsburgh LEADER feels that "we have in the great industrial states a spirit that is terribly dangerous at critical stages of economic controversy." Therefore laying aside one's personal sympathies, the Cleveland PLAIN DEALER insists that "national, states and local authorities shall take immediate adequate steps to see that every guilty man or woman is punished in a manner to fit the crime. This much the country expects. No less will answer the dictates of justice."

This is somewhat the view of the Nashville BANNER which declares that "the slaughter presents a challenge directly to the power of law and order and decency, and the defiance should be met at once in such a manner as to leave no doubt as to where the public stands." This being so the New York EVENING WORLD is convinced that "union labor in the United States can be in no doubt as to its duty to repudiate such a crime. Organized labor in this country is strong for a fair and lawful fight. It cannot stand for unionism that boasts of bloodshed." Whether it does or not the Syracuse HERALD insists "means must be found for putting an end to a revolt which threatens to paralyze the activities of the industries upon which the American people depend for sustenance."

INDORSING KEYNES' IDEA

Paris—America must be converted to Mr. Keynes' idea, just as France has been, says M. Herve, Editor of the VICTOIRE. Pointing out the two ways it is possible to take, the one leading to a speedy resumption of business and general prosperity, the other, to sanctions, Ruhr occupation, etc., he says:

"We have arrived now at the cross-roads. Two ways are open to us for settling the reparations question and the general reconstruction of Europe. 'The bankers' conference pointed out the first way to the allied governments. It leads directly to a reduction of the German debt and by compensation, to a reduction of France's debts to America and England. This is Keynes' great idea, the idea which he issued at once after the Versailles Congress. This British economist has been proclaiming for four years that Germany will never pay such a huge debt as that which the allies have charged her with. She cannot pay in gold since she has none, she can only pay in goods. And so pay such a huge sum by means of exports would mean such tremendous competition for the allied industries that they would soon be praying for mercy and begging their respective governments to abandon the German debt."

"England has arrived at this stage, in consequence of the exchange crisis and of the stagnation of her industries, caused, according to Keynes by the general economic upheaval produced partly by the war and the Bolshevik revolution, but chiefly aggravated by the financial clauses of the Versailles treaty. Rightly or wrongly, Keynes' idea was approved of at the bankers' conference. There only remains now for Keynes to convince the American government and people. America is the creditor of all the allies. The European allies owe her altogether ten billion dollars. But the unfortunate part of it is that until now the Americans would not hear of Keynes' thesis, and refused to abandon the allies' debt. But if they could only be persuaded, all the difficulties would be removed. America would cancel her credits on England, France and the other allies; England, France and Belgium; France would do the same for Italy, Roumania, and Jugoslavia; and the German debt would thus be reduced to about ten billion gold marks, for which the bankers of America, England, Holland, Switzerland, and perhaps France would undertake to issue a foreign loan which they would easily dispose of among their customers. In this way the German war debt would be changed into a commercial debt to private persons; Germany would owe us nothing more; we could evacuate the left bank of the Rhine; and business would begin to prosper everywhere. But as this way is blocked at present because of the refusal of the United States to join us, what can we do?"

"We can only go the other way, and apply the Versailles Treaty, in agreement with our allies if they are willing, but quite alone if they refuse. The application of the treaty would mean in the last extremity, the application of sanctions, seizing the customs, levying taxes in the occupied Rhineland and the occupation of the Ruhr district."

In comparison of the two ways is sufficient to make it comprehensible that we would rather take the first, the one that Keynes recommends, because it is in our interest and, because it is the surest, the shortest, and the most agreeable way."

"Mr. Keynes and the bankers must understand that if we take the second way, which is much harder, longer and bristling with all sorts of obstacles, it is only because we cannot do otherwise, and there is no alternative. 'We have been converted in France to Keynes' idea. Now it is America's turn to be converted. It is really much more urgent—doesn't Mr. Lloyd George think so—than to continue the crusade in favor of Bolshevik Russia!'"

THIS FIREMAN LIKED HIS JOB

London—The Rome correspondent of the Times says the frequency of outbreaks of fire in the Upper Adige had made the police suspect that these were not always accidental. A secret inquiry was therefore ordered, which led to a most unexpected result. It was discovered that a member of the fire brigade was implicated in outbreaks of fire at several country houses. The extraordinary thing is that he had always distinguished himself for his courage and gained the admiration of his superiors. Under arrest he confessed that he had set fire to houses from love of sensation, and to have a chance of winning a medal for his bravery.

Mary As An Ideal

Mary Pickford says that she has received more than 800,000 letters during the last five years.

No such mail is delivered to Thomas A. Edison, Steinmetz or any other of civilization's master minds. Most of us would rather be a great actor than a great scientist, economist or educator. The world is more interested in play-acting and recreation than in hard work and service to humanity.

To know yourself, study the person who has what you consider an ideal existence.

People dream more when awake than when asleep. We dream chiefly about our ideals—the people we envy, the kind of life we yearn for. It is good to have ideals. Occasionally they are stimulating—more often, a drug.

Keeping the mind on baseball and movies chloroforms one's efficiency in handling the present job.

The successful do not waste time envying someone else. They select their ideal, then picture it held by themselves, not others. Steadily they work to the goal. Meantime they handle each task thoroughly, as it comes.

The key to the future is in how we handle or mishandle the present. Usually the day-dream ends as a nightmare.

MACHINES AND LABOR
To make 100 pair of women's shoes by hand takes 1025 hours of labor: To make them by machine requires only 80 hours.

A machine-driven saw makes as many pine boards in 272 hours as can be sawed out by hand in 16,000 hours.

This is figured out by Emil O. Jorgensen, economist. In general, he finds hand-work takes 252 times as long as machine-work.

We are headed for a day when the only human labor will be making machines and keeping them adjusted while running.

The machine is the modern slave. In effect, each of us has many of these slaves working for us. That is why we have a higher standard of living than our ancestors.

When you look at some pieces of machinery, their intricacies amaze you—and you wonder how the brain of man ever conceived them.

Yet practically all mechanical movements are merely combinations of three basic principles—wheel, wedge and lever. Individually, these are simple. Grouped together, they look complicated.

So with all problems. No matter how involved and difficult they seem, a little analysis and common sense will disclose that they are built up out of very simple things, easily adjusted.

Get rid of fear and procrastination, and no problem is insurmountably difficult.

SNAKES AND CARELESSNESS
E. H. Bostock, famous menagerie man, is caught off his guard in London and gripped in the coils of a 30-foot python.

Bostock has a brain that can master and handle any snake or wild animal on earth. Yet his one lapse into carelessness would have cost him his life if seven assistants had not happened to be nearby. It took their combined strength to get their boss out of the python's coils.

Constant association with danger breeds carelessness. That is why we have so many auto accidents.

ORIENTAL POLITICS
Isaac F. Marcossion, famous reporter, returns from the orient, where he studied economic and political conditions for five months.

Marcossion says Japan "is marching toward a serious economic crisis in which a panic is among the near possibilities. As a matter of fact, Japan's whole naval program was beyond her fiscal resources and the Washington conference really saved her from national bankruptcy."

Keep this in mind and you will find it easy to interpret future political news from the orient. Politics follows economics. Economics follows the two terrible emotions, fear and distrust.

A. In the Senate debate on the admission of California as a state, William H. Seward said: "The Constitution regulates our stewardship; the Constitution devotes the domain to union, to justice, to defense, to welfare, to liberty. But there is a higher law than the Constitution which regulates our authority over the domain, and devotes it to the same noble purposes." To Daniel Webster's assertion that it was absurd to re-enact the laws of God, Seward replied that "there is no human enactment which is just that is not a re-enactment of the law of God."

Q. Why are 13 eggs called a setting? L. R.

A. The Poultry division says that a setting of eggs is usually 15. This is the number sold by poultrymen. This number except that it is just about what a hen can cover.

Q. Is the Scotch game shinty the same as our shinty? E. M.C.

A. Shinty is the Scotch name for hockey, which is also known as hurley in Ireland. It is not to be confused with the American game of shinny.

Fred C. Ames and Mrs. H. D. Leeman called at Shiocton last week.

JOHN W. THOMAS, well known insurance man of Wilmington, Del., who declares Tanlac promptly overcame his stubborn stomach trouble and run-down condition following two attacks of influenza. Gains weight and now feels fine.

The flu left me in such a run-down condition life was miserable and work a burden. I declared John W. Thomas' well known insurance man 600 Tattallist Wilmington Del. in a recent statement regarding Tanlac.

Twice I was a victim of the flu. I continued the last time about two years ago, and since then I suffered from stomach trouble, nervousness and dizzy spells. After eating gas on my stomach worked up through my chest and made my heart beat so fast it alarmed me and I nearly smothered. I could never get a good night's sleep and got up mornings with a mean taste in my mouth and all tired out.

Other medicines seemed to do me harm instead of good but three bottles of Tanlac rid me of indigestion, the nervousness and dizziness. My sleep is restful and I am feeling like a different man. Tanlac is certainly great.

Tanlac is sold by all good drug gists.

TELLS WORLD TO "SEE MARY" AND WAXES WEALTHY

Clever Young Woman is Making a Fortune as Real Estate Agent

"See Mary" This is the challenging trademark of America's youngest realty broker and most successful business flapper. And enough people have heeded it to run her original capital of $300 to $25,000 in two years.

"Mary" is Mary Vittoria, 18. In Hollywood, field of her activities, she is as well known as her movie neighbors. They've even named a street for her.

She credits her phenomenal success to an instinct for advertising, a studied desire to give buyers just the property they're seeking, square shooting, and an emphasis on her striking personality.

"But I don't rely upon my sex to make sales," Mary explains. "If I couldn't deliver the goods I'd quit."

A high school education, observation and a serious study of human feelings, foibles and conduct complete her equipment.

"My advice to business women is: Make your town talk about you. Don't be a shrinking violet."

"Identify your personality as closely and strikingly as possible with your work."

"Get a slogan—something that sticks in folks' minds—something snappy and provocative that rouses curiosity. Curiosity promotes contacts. The rest is easy if you have the goods."

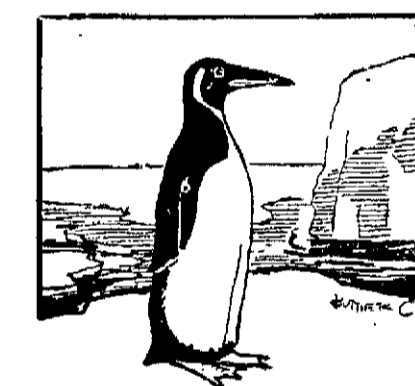

"A happy hunch prompted me to adopt 'See Mary'—which I use on billboards, in newspapers and every possible channel. It has brought thousands to my office and given me the start of a fortune."

NATURE FACTS AND FREAKS

BIRDS WITHOUT NESTS
By Prof. M. J. Elrod

Emperor penguins, standing erect and five feet tall, are the largest birds of this strange group living in Antarctic regions.

Powerful swimmers in water, almost helpless on land, unable to use their wings for flight, they have had very great interest for explorers.

Dr. S. E. Jones, who was with Sir Douglas Mawson, describing a great mass of the birds covering several acres of floe ice, says the sound of their cries reminded one of the noise from a distant sports' ground in a well-contested game.

The emperor makes no nests. The eggs are incubated while the long night is still on, when the temperature may be 15 to 20 degrees below zero with the wind blowing a gale. The female must deposit the eggs on the ice, in absence of a nest.

The single egg is placed above the feet, between the feet and breast feathers. In this way the egg is held from contact with the chilling ice. This habit he prevailed so long the birds are accustomed to standing on heels rather than flat feet, in striking contrast to other birds.

Males and females take turn in the process of incubation. The young are reared by the mothers, who literally climb on top of them. This strange and seemingly needless habit frequently results in the death of the young. Food is brought from the sea in the mother's mouth and gullet, and is eagerly seized and devoured by the young.

MARRIAGE A LA MODE
Many a man knows, to his sorrow, the trouble that may be caused when two women, both interested in him, get together and exchange confidences.

So the Corcan is restrained by custom and law from keeping more than one wife in his home at a time, though he may have as many as he likes in separate establishments. Many of them are treated little better than slaves.

SENSIBLE THINKING WOMEN,
no longer doubt the efficacy of that old-fashioned root and herb medicine, Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, because it relieves the ailments to which they are afflicted. In almost every neighborhood there are living witnesses of its wonderful effects. Therefore, if you doubt its value or power to help you, ask your neighbor. In nine times out of ten she has been benefited by its use or knows someone who has. It will pay you to give her root and herb medicine a trial.

Whom Shall Mollie Marry?

Chapter 1

Round and round the dance floor of the Midvale Boat Club foxtrotted a dandy wayne. And round and round it seemed to her, life itself was spinning that night like some enormous "out-and-take" top on each face of it some destiny marked for Mollie, imminent, irrevocable, for better or for worse. For she was in the daytime of her life, 23. May itself was making silver magic on the river she glimpsed through the boathouse windows. Music and the dance were in her blood like an intoxication. And three young men were with her. Each of them had been a wooer of hers since high school days; each of them answered vibrantly to some side of Mollie's nature and any one of them might momentarily ask her to be wholly his—his partner and mate to the end.

She saw it in their eyes as she danced with each in turn. She felt it in their touch, heard it in the murmur of their half-gay, half-anxious bantering about her interest in their rivals. One of them would be sure to ask her the fateful question that evening.

Would it be Ben Wheeler, keen and bright as a razor and razor, he so efficiently manufactured? "Keen" was the word he used in speaking of his feelings for her—the girl President Bennings of the Midvale Savings Bank (she was Bennings' secretary) characterized as "sure as an adding machine."

Would it be Billy Barton, successful as an architect but not as successful as Ben Wheeler? Or would it be the man she was dancing with at that moment, whose gaiety and good looks made all other men look commonplace and anxious? And how he danced.

Donald Manning, leading man in the Midvale Lyceum Stock Company, was murmuring to Mollie as he led in the skillful and intricate steps of the fox-trot.

"Mollie, I've simply got to talk about you—and me! You look all ways as if you'd been fresh-washed in all sorts of clear water and sunlight. If I was a sculptor I'd simply go dippy about you ankles and hands and throat—Gosh, Mollie, let's go down and take a skiff and float off!"

"I can't, Don," she whispered, avoiding the glowing blue eyes that were winning Don such a huge fan-lame following "and out of the theater. I've got dances promised to Ben Wheeler and Billy Barton."

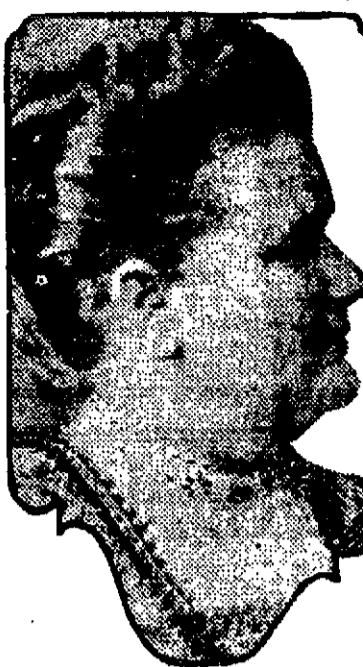

"Then, listen. You promised me four more dances. Put them all together, sit them out in the skiff with me—and then, if you still insist, come back and give the others their dances. Please, honey!" he pleaded. "It's—It's important!"

"You'll promise to bring me back in time?" she asked.

He pressed her hand in answer as they ran down the steps to the float where the skiff bobbed, awaiting them.

PLEDGES CLEANUP

EMMA HARVAT

"I am 52 years old, don't care who knows it, and I'm going to clean up this town and then run it properly."

This ultimatum is delivered by Miss Emma Harvat, who was chosen mayor of Iowa City, Ia., and the 12,000 inhabitants thereof, many of them college students, when Ingalls Swisher, regularly elected mayor, resigned.

Iowa City needs a cleanup, some citizens think, and now it appears to be here.

Miss Harvat has been an alderman several years. She's a successful business woman, too.

Household Hints

COMPLEXION HINT
If you wish to keep your complexion beautiful and fresh you might try this: Give it a bath, first with hot, then with cold, water. Next rub on a lotion composed of one part glycerine and three parts rosewater. Then give it a thorough massage with cold cream and finally go over the surface with ice, wrapped in a cloth.

FOR HATS
Crepe scarfs, sometimes fringed, but usually plain, are a favorite method of trimming felt hats that are so popular now.

COLOR
Colored embroideries, in vivid tones, are fashioned into very smart dress trimmings. They have even been gathered up into old-fashioned ruffles and made into very new-fashioned frocks.

CIRCULAR CAPES
Circular cape coats are a novelty for fall wear. They are cut with a narrow shoulder line and are unbelted.

FASHIONABLE
Chron, mauve and rose shades are very popular for summer. These are particularly attractive in dyed lace or very soft voile or organdie.

YOUR JOB

BY ELIZABETH ARNOLD
Employment Expert

A word constantly used by employers in describing the kind of woman they do not want is "temperamental." During the war men and women worked under a high nervous tension. Most employers were unconscious that in many cases had they discharged their temperamental men, they would have had less difficulty with temperamental women. The fact is that women are unfairly blamed and held responsible for any nervous collisions that occur in an organization. Women have to be prepared to bear more than their share of the wear and tear of human adjustments in industry. It is fast coming to the point where it pays a woman in dollars and cents to eat nourishing food, get plenty of rest and proper recreation, and keep herself looking physically fit, rather than to look dressy and high strung.

Adventures Of The Twins

Oliver Roberts Barton

King Indig
"Hello there!"
King Indig stopped with one foot in mid-air as the Twins appeared in the doorway of the room where he was playing hooch on one of his billiard tables.

"Hello," said Nick. "I mean, how do you do?" corrected himself when he remembered that he was addressing a king. Nancy dropped a courtesy.

The king put down his foot and jumped off the table.

"Who are you?" he asked amiably. "And do you play hooch?"

"Yes, your highness," answered Nick gravely.

"Then come on and play."

"I'm sorry," said Nick. "but we can't stay. We're on a journey and it's only half over."

He was thinking that this was a queer king who had nothing to do but play while others were working so hard to make him happy.

"Where to?" asked the king.

Nick told him about the record and Longhead and all the rest of it. The king laughed. "That's fine!" he cried. "But your journey's over. You need not go over the Seven Valleys to the Kingdom of the Keros-knots. I'll save you the trouble right now by putting the record on a photograph in the music room. I'm so much handsomer than ugly old King Verdo that there isn't any dispute whatever. If the thousand years are up I'll marry Princess Therna tomorrow."

So saying, he took the record from Nick, strode past the Twins and out of the door. "You may come along if you wish," he called over his shoulder. And he also invited all his servants and attendants and courtiers to follow.

"I want you all to hear," said he, "that the master is going to be married. Tomorrow you shall have a queen."

He put on the record and started his phonograph. And this is what it said: "The only needle that will make me talk is the third peg in the heel of King Verdo's left boot."

"Oh, oh!" said King Indig. "You children will have to finish your journey after all. So hurry up!"

LEARN A WORD EVERY DAY

Today's word is EXOTIC. It's pronounced egz-ot-ik, with accent on the second syllable and all vowels short.

It means—from a foreign country; foreign; not native.

It comes from the Latin—exoticus, meaning "outside."

It's used like this—"The trees lent an exotic magnificence to the scene."

Snake in Street
A pine snake of unusual length was found lying on the main street of Stephensville Wednesday by Appleton motorists. It had been run over by automobiles. It was said to be fully six feet long.

Miss Myrtle Kranzsch has returned from a week's vacation spent in Chicago.

COSTUME BLOUSE

Does the Sun's Work on Dismal Wash Days

By JANE LEB

Women have always dreaded the dismal wash-day, because it has often meant a sour, soggy, grayish mass of clothes.

Now any fabric expert can tell you there is nothing like olive oil to make the tiny fibers of materials soft, clean and white—even without a soap to bleach them. This is one reason fabric makers wash their new materials with olive oil soap.

The Palmolive Co.'s new laundry bar for the home—GREEN ARROW—contains real olive oil and makes your clothes snow white and olive-soft, even when dried indoors. You'd really believe that a GREEN ARROW wash on a dismal day had hung for hours in the summer sun!

Besides this, you don't have to boil your wash, for the olive oil dissolves the stubborn dirt from every thread and the naphtha dissolves the grease.

When you consider that GREEN ARROW contains from 33 1/2 to 100% more soap than the ordinary laundry bar the same size, you will readily appreciate that it goes much farther and saves several bars a month.

The danger of ordinary laundry soap is the fact that it contains much "filler" to make a little soap look like a full-sized bar. But "filler" impedes the washing and cuts and rots the materials. A chemist found "filler" in 27 popular brands of laundry soap.

When the washing of even the small family contains about $77.00 worth of clothes or more, you can see that GREEN ARROW saves many dollars a year, which otherwise would be spent to replace your clothes.

GREEN ARROW is all soap—all cleaning power.

Any woman who tries GREEN ARROW a few weeks will admit that the saving in soap alone makes up for the trifling difference in price.

Fiance Of Mission Worker To Speak In Local Church

An ocean and a few thousand miles mean nothing to two young persons in love. That is the case with Leeds Gulick, the first Congregational church's foreign missionary, and Miss Gladys Ramsey of Chicago, whom he is to marry in August.

Mr. Gulick informed officials of the church here sometime ago that he would return to American from Kyoto, Japan, where he is teaching, in order to wed Miss Ramsey, and the couple they would return to the Orient together. The young man intended to visit Appleton at that time.

Now Cupid has reversed the procedure. Mr. Gulick is not coming to the United States, but Miss Ramsey is going to Kyoto instead and the ceremony will be performed there.

The local church is not to be deprived of the promised visit, however. Miss Ramsey will come in her fiancé's place and is to speak at the morning service of the Congregational church next Sunday, July 9. She also will address the Sunday school and a union Christian Endeavor meeting at 6:30 in the evening at Memorial Presbyterian church.

Miss Ramsey will arrive in Appleton Saturday and will be a guest of the congregation at a reception to be held in the evening at the G. E. Buchanan cottage, Lake Winnebago. All members of the church have been invited to attend. Each is to bring a basket supper, including dishes, sandwiches and cake and one hot dish and coffee will be furnished.

All who cannot make the trip to the cottage by automobile are to take the southbound interurban car at 5:15 Saturday afternoon and they will be met at Child corners, north of Waverly beach, by automobiles and conveyed to the lake.

Miss Ramsey's home is in Pittsburgh, Pa., but she is living in Chicago now. She graduated from Northwestern university, Evanston, in June. She will be the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Russel while here.

Dells Popular For Weekend Trips By Auto

Weekend trips to the Dells of the Wisconsin river and Devils lake are proving popular with Appleton motorists, because the journey may be made in comfort in two days.

The best route discovered by local drivers is to follow state trunk highway No. 31 to Waupun from Fond du Lac, then take No. 33 to Portage and Baraboo. Route No. 12 then may be followed to Kilbourn.

Some have tried routes No. 91 and 23 but discovered that they must use highway No. 10 to reach Baraboo.

STATE SPORTSMEN MEET IN MADISON

Appleton Might Not Send Delegation to Conference in Capital

No delegates have as yet been appointed from Appleton to attend the state conference of sportsmen and game wardens which will take place at Madison July 11 and 12. The conference is called to outline a program of fish and game protective legislation to be submitted at the next session of the legislature.

George A. Lawyer, United States game warden and the wardens from Iowa, Minnesota and Michigan will be at the meeting to advise in the program and to get material with which to organize similar plans in other states. The greatest draw back to the promotion of sportsmen's interests in Wisconsin has been the multiplicity of laws. Uniformity of law and enforcement is what the state conference aims at.

Sells Boarding House

R. W. Collar, through Laabs & Shepherd, has sold his saloon and boarding house at Appleton Junction to Hubert Merkel, who has already taken possession. Mr. Merkel will occupy the second floor as his place of residence, while the saloon will be operated by a tenant.

Fur Talks By KISS

The foresighted woman attends to her fur repairing now so that she receives the double benefit of summer prices, which are lower, and the special attention which it is possible to give in a greater degree at this time. In addition, she avoids the possibility of disappointment when she wants her furs for winter.

Attention to storage should no longer be sidetracked, as during the warm weather furs require special attention and treatment.

124 NEW HOMES IN APPLETON SINCE FIRST OF YEAR

THIRD AND FIFTH WARD GET MOST OF NEW BUILDING

Contractors Expect More Than 200 Homes Will Be Built Here This Year

Nearly two-thirds of all the homes built since Jan. 1, 1922, and now under construction are in the Third and Fifth wards according to a survey of building operations in Appleton made by city letter carriers under the direction of Postmaster Gustave Keller and Superintendent of Mails John Letter. The survey showed 124 homes built since the first of the year and under construction now. The new homes were distributed as follows:

First ward, 15.
Second ward, 2.
Third ward, 31.
Fourth ward, 13.
Fifth ward, 44.
Sixth ward, 19.
This shows that 75 of the 124 new homes are in the Third and Fourth ward and proves the oft repeated assertion that the city is growing most rapidly toward the west.

Building material dealers and contractors say the demand for new homes is not slackening in spite of the advancing building season. Contractors say they will not be surprised if 200 homes are built in Appleton this year.

HIGH SCHOOL SPENT $95,000 LAST YEAR

The high school board of education had a balance of $14,968.05 in the treasury at the end of the fiscal year, July 1, according to the report made by Fred Bachman, treasurer. The balance is $6,082.03 greater than the balance of July 1, 1921.

The receipts for the year amounted to $110,052.26, the disbursements $95,084.16. The tax levy was $35,000 last year and the amount received from tuition $3,891. The sum of $775.63 was received as state aid for free high school, manual training, domestic science and commercial departments. Salaries paid out totaled $72,914.34.

Corbett of the local chamber. The meeting will bring together leading business men from all over the world for a discussion of world trade problems. Sixteen countries affiliated with the International chamber will send delegates. An extensive tour is being arranged for American delegates through the near East and western Europe.

DISCONTINUE MARKET REPORTS IN SUMMER

Farmers of Outagamie-co. who depended upon the state department of markets for their market reports which were sent over the state by wire, by mail, and by radio, will be required to get them through other sources during the remainder of the summer as they have been discontinued during the months of July and August. On September 1 the service will be resumed on an enlarged scale.

READING CIRCLES ARE POPULAR IN COUNTY

That pupils and teachers of Outagamie-co. schools look with favor upon the Wisconsin reading circles, is seen from the reading circle report of Miss Florence S. Jenkins, county superintendent of schools, for the year of 1921-1922. Eighty-five teachers earned teachers' reading circle diplomas or seals and 2,337 pupils earned young people's reading circle diplomas or seals. Of the latter 1,685 were in rural schools, 464 in state graded schools, 153 in grades below high schools and 35 in high schools.

LIKES APPLETON FILTRATION PLANT

Portage Man Inspects Equipment Here—Others to Visit City Soon

Water purifying methods used in Appleton water department were made the subject of a study by Dr. F. P. Gorton of Portage during a visit here earlier in the week with Mrs. Gorton.

Dr. Gorton is a member of the water commission at Portage and says all members of this body probably will come here later to learn how the purification is accomplished.

Portage has no filtration plant and has been ordered by the state board of health to place chlorine in the water. A movement therefore was started to learn the experiences of other cities, and possibly to install a filtration equipment.

One of the delegates to the recent convention of the League of Wisconsin Municipalities observed the Appleton plant and recommended that others of the Portage commission come here. Dr. Gorton was highly pleased with the equipment and arrangement of the plant and commended the city for the excellence of its water supply.

Portage receives its water supply from the Wisconsin river and the two cities therefore have similar situations.

POLICEWOMAN TO RECOVER BOOKS

Mrs. Gardner Will Assist Public Library to Stop Borrowers' Delinquency

Checking up of delinquent book borrowers of the Free public library is a duty that has been assigned to Mrs. Mildred H. Gardner, policewoman, by Chief George T. Prim. She secured the return of nine volumes during June, according to the monthly police report.

Library patrons who ignore telephone or written notices from the librarian when books are long overdue and not returned are the ones who will be visited by Mrs. Gardner. This work has been done in the past by officers who could find the time.

There were 13 arrests during June, and 13 special cases were handled by Mrs. Gardner. Speeding topped the list with eight offenses, and there were three liquor law violators. One arrest was made for grand larceny, one for forgery and one for being a fugitive from justice.

The police automobile answered 121 calls, traveling 730 miles, the ambulance, 5 calls, traveling 19 miles. Eight girls were interviewed by Mrs. Gardner at her office. She paroled one girl to a home, returned one runaway girl to her parents, had one theft case paroled, placed one boy in a home and has one criminal case under investigation.

KELLER IN RACE FOR DISTRICT ATTORNEY

The first Democrat to publicly announce his candidacy for county office took out nomination papers Wednesday for the office of district attorney.

L. Hugo Keller, who made a good run in the elections two years, will again be candidate at the primaries. He received 4,194 votes at the regular elections in 1920, as compared with 9,163 for Fred V. Heinemann, Republican. The total Democratic vote cast at the last presidential elections was 6,085.

POLICE UNABLE TO TRACE SWINDLER

Check Forger Appears to Have Made Getaway—Steinberg Burglar Undiscovered

The forger calling himself "Henry Bolton," who so cleverly swindled local merchants out of $600 last week by cashing bogus checks appears to have been clever enough also to cover up his tracks. Diligent efforts have been made by the police to learn his identity or the direction of his departure, but nothing has developed that might give an inkling as to his whereabouts. Chief George T. Prim expects to take several merchants interested in apprehending the man to Milwaukee and Chicago, where the identification bureau will be consulted and the identity of the man established, if he is a professional crook.

The burglar who stole $30 and a gold watch at the J. P. Steinberg residence, Appleton-st., Monday also is still at large.

LIFELONG APPLETON RESIDENT FAIRLY MARVELS OVER RELIEF

"It's Simply Remarkable The Relief Trutona Has Given Me From Stomach and Kidney Troubles," Mr. Dolschel Declares—Says Soreness Gone From Stomach and Kidneys Functioning Properly Now

"Well, sir, it's simply remarkable the relief Trutona has given me from stomach and kidney troubles," Anton Dolschel, lifelong resident of 975 J. P. ferson-st., Appleton, enthusiastically told the Trutona Expert who called on him last week. Asked for further details of his remarkable case, Mr. Dolschel gladly made the following statement:

"I had been bedfast for months as the result of a broken limb and it seemed that the lack of exercise had gotten my stomach, kidneys and bowels all out of order, subsequently causing me to suffer in addition to the pain from my limb. Almost everything I ate induced gas formations in my stomach, making me badly swollen and bloated and my stomach seemed so sore at times. The action of my kidneys was scanty and I was always having to take laxatives to induce bowel action.

"As I said, it's just remarkable what this splendid preparation Trutona has done for me. My stomach feels just fine again. The soreness having all disappeared from that organ and I realize that my kidneys are acting fully a hundred per cent better now. I've found Trutona a splendid bowel regulator, also. It has given me great relief in this respect, too. I do not hesitate to recommend this great medicine to anyone, suffering as I did."

Here is another remarkable statement which brings home the fact that Appleton people—scores and scores of them—are doing more than merely indulging Trutona. Instead they fairly marvel over the benefits this great preparation has given them: their words teem with gratitude for the relief they have gained from stomach, liver, kidneys, bowel and blood troubles. It is Trutona's surprising and remarkable action on the mucous membranes of the body which enables this famous tonic to give relief after many other medicines had flatly failed; which makes it so effective that scores and scores of local people admit they have been benefited positively beyond their fondest expectations. If you are weakened and rundown and need a good reconstructive tonic, system purifier and body invigorator, you'll find Trutona absolutely everything that is claimed for it.

Hundreds of bottles of Trutona are sold weekly in Appleton at SCHLINTZ, BROS. Drug Store, in Neenah at MARSH BROS. Berlin, M. & Z Pharmacy, Kaukauna, BRAUER'S Drug Store and in surrounding towns at all good druggists adv.

SCARAMOUCHE

by Rafael Sabatini

BEGIN HERE TODAY

To escape hanging on the charge of sedition, ANDRE LOUIS MOREAU flees from his native town of Gavrilac and hides his identity as a member of a band of outlaws. He makes a great success in the character of SCARAMOUCHE. His flight has caused him to develop a revenge on the great and powerful MARQUIS DE LA TOUR DAZIER who tricked Andie's dearest friend PHILIPPE DE VILMORIN a duelist student into a duel and then killed him because he feared the idealistic dangerous gift of eloquence. Over the dead body of his friend Andie swore to carry on his work of reforming the lot of the peasants. Scaramouche as Andre Louis is now called falls in love with CLIMENE daughter of the owner of the troupe and tries to forget the beautiful ALINE DE KERCADIOU whom he thinks will marry the Marquis. Climene treats him with coldness. GO ON WITH THE STORY. And so you find me cruel? Climene challenged him at length. Andre Louis looked at her with a half smile. You have grown weary of your part of cruel madam—a dull part he have me and unworthy of your talents. Were I a woman and had I your loveliness and your grace Climene I should disdain to use them as weapons of offense. Loveliness and grace she echoed feigning surprise. But the vain pageant was mollified. When was it you discovered this beauty and this grace? Scaramouche. One morning when I beheld you rehearsing a love scene with Leandre. Why that was the first time you saw me. I had no earlier occasion to remark your charms. You ask me to believe too much said she but her tone was softer than he had ever known it yet. Then you'll refuse to believe me if I confess that it was this grace and beauty that determined my destiny that day by urging me to join your father's troupe. At that she became a little out of breath. There was no longer any question of finding an outlet for resentment. Resentment was all for gotten. But what? With what object? With the object of asking you one day to be my wife. You go very fast don't you she asked him with heat. I do. Haven't you observed it? I am a man of sudden impulses. I have rushed and expressed myself not to scare you by precipitancy. I have waited—oh so patiently—until you should tire of that mood of cruelty. Mechanically and as if by tacit consent they resumed their walk. And I ask you to observe he said. When you complain that I go very fast that for all I have so far asked you for nothing. How? quoth she frowning. I have merely told you of my hopes. It was his self-possession that exasperated her for after that she walked a sort of remainder of the way in silence and so for the moment the matter was left just there. But that night after they had supped it appeared that when Climene was about to retire he and she were alone together in the room above stairs that her father kept exclusively for his company. As Climene now rose to withdraw for the night Scaramouche rose with her to light her candle. Holding it in her left hand she offered him her right a long tapering white hand at the end of a soft rounded arm that was bare to the elbow. Thus a moment then he took the tip of her fingers in his grasp and bowed over the hand pressed his lips upon it. Then he looked at her again. The terse femininity of her lured him on invited him and rendered to him. By the hand he continued to hold he drew her toward him. She came unresisting. He took the candle from her and set it down on the side board by which she stood. The next moment her slight little body was in his arms and he was kissing her murmuring her name as if it were a prayer. Am I cruel now? she asked him panting. He kissed her again for only answer. You made me cruel because you would not see she told him next in a whisper. And then the door opened and M. Binet came in to have his paternal eyes regaled by this high indecorous behavior of his daughter. And what may be the meaning of this? demanded M. Binet be wildered and profoundly shocked. Does it require explaining? asked Scaramouche. It means that Climene and I have taken it into our heads to be married. And doesn't it matter now? I may take into my head? Of course. But you could have neither the bad taste nor the bad heart to offer any obstacle. You take that for granted? Aye that is your way to be sure—to take things for granted you have done an unworthy thing. Scaramouche. You have betrayed my trust in you I am very angry with you. He rolled forward with his ponderous yet curiously noiseless gait. Scaramouche turned to Climene smiling and handed her the candle.

If you will leave us Climene I will ask you to hand of your father in proper form. She vanished a little flustered lovelier than ever in her mixture of confusion and timidity. Scaramouche closed the door and faced the enraptured M. Binet who had flung himself in an armchair. Father-in-law said he "I congratulate you. This will certainly mean the Comedie Francaise for Climene and that before long and you shall shine in the glory she will reflect. As the father of Madame Scaramouche you may yet be a man of some importance."

You're a damned coarsen! he cried thickly bending his head like a ferocious animal. A coarsen! First you sail in and plunder me of half my legitimate gains and now you want to carry off my daughter! But I'll be damned if I'll give her to a graceless nameless scoundrel like you for whom the galleys are waiting already. Scaramouche smiled the halcyon not at all discomposed. He smiled. There was a flush on his cheeks and a gleam in his eyes. He was very pleased with the world that night. He really owed a great debt to M. de Leodigueres. Binet said he "forget for once that you are Pantaloon and behave as a nice amiable father-in-law should behave when he has secured a son-in-law of exceptional merits."

CHAPTER VII The Binet Troupe opened in Nantes—as you may discover in surviving copies of the Courier Nantes—on the Feast of the Purification with Les Fourberies de Scaramouche. For Scaramouche himself the opening success was not confined to the public. At the end of the play a great reception awaited him from his companions assembled in the green room of the theater.

On the following night they played The Ship Lover to a full house. The fame of their debut having gone abroad and the success of Monday was confirmed.

After breakfast the following morning Andre Louis and Climene sallied forth to take the air upon the quay. Columbus tactlessly joined them as they were setting out. Enough matters were improved a little when Harlequin came running after them and attached himself to Columbus.

Through the bustle of traffic on the quay a cabriolet the upper half of which was almost entirely made of glass had approached them. It was drawn by two magnificent bay horses and driven by a superbly liveried coachman.

In the cabriolet sat a slight young girl wrapped in a luxuriant pelisse her face of a delicate loveliness. She was leaning forward her lips parted as if devouring Scaramouche until they drew his gaze. When that happened the shock of it brought him abruptly to a dumfounded halt. What is it Scaramouche?

But he made no attempt to answer her and at that moment the coach man to whom the little lady had already signaled brought the carriage to a stand still beside them. Seen in the gorgeous setting of that coach with its encrusted panels its portly coachman and its white stockinged footman—who swung instantly to earth as the vehicle stopped—its dainty occupant seemed to Climene a princess out of a fair tale. And this princess leaned forward with eyes aglow and cheeks aflame stretching out a choicely gloved hand to Scaramouche.

APPLETON TEAM ON ORGANIZED BALL BLACKLIST

BIG LEAGUES HAND JOLT TO VALLEY WHEEL

President Kluwin Making Effort to Have Commission Reconsider Case

Appleton baseball club of the Fox River Valley league has been placed on the blacklist of organized baseball because it played Sewda Risberg and Eddie Clotte of the ill-famous Chicago Black Sox against the Menasha team a few weeks ago. Official announcement of the blacklist was made on Thursday.

Every effort is being made by President John Kluwin of the Valley league to have the ban lifted. He has wired Secretary John H. Farrell of the national commission explaining the entire case and asking him to reopen the case at once. He explained how the Black Sox happened to be engaged by the Appleton team and is confident the decision will be changed. Blacklisting of Appleton team means that any player who continues with the local club is banned by organized baseball and no player now in organized ball is permitted to play with or against the local club. The ruling is a severe blow to the entire league. It will make it more difficult to obtain players and youngsters who develop into stars will find it hard to get into organized ball if they have played against the Appleton club.

President Kluwin stated that the league is making every effort to enforce baseball rules and is baring blacklisted players from its teams. Playing the Black Sox has caused more trouble in baseball circles in Appleton than anything within the memory of the oldest fan. Appleton missed losing its Valley league franchise by the narrowest of margins and now it is in bad with organized baseball.

KANSAS SUFFERED FRACTURE IN FIGHT

Chicago—X ray pictures of Rocky Kansas's left arm Thursday showed an oblique fracture of the small bone and it probably will be two months before he can return to the ring, according to Dr. C. W. K. Briggs of Chicago, who attended the Buffalo fight after his injury in his contest with Benny Leonard at Michigan City, Ind., July 4.

Kansas is on his way east, heart broken. Ten days before the contest he buried his father and the day before the match received word that his mother was dangerously ill. This latest shock according to his handlers broke his fighting spirit.

FACTORY TEAMS SCHEDULED FOR THREE FAST GAMES

Three Players Absent From Tuttle Team—Valley Pitcher is Injured

Teams of the Industrial league are waiting patiently for Saturday when the league battles will be resumed. Some good games are booked and the teams are preparing for the contests by bolstering up the lineups and working out evenings.

The Valley Iron Works team will take on the Fox River Papermakers at Brandt Park. The Iron Workers will be handicapped by the absence of their pitcher, Huebhel, who was injured Saturday when a pitched ball cut his cheek. So far no one has been found to take his place.

Tuttle Press and Kimberly meet at Kimberly. The Tuttle team is weakened by the absence of its regular first and second basemen and left fielder. Substitutes will be put into these places for the Kimberly game.

Combined Locks and the Toy Company teams play at Combined Locks.

BABE RUTH GETS 14TH HOME RUN AS YANKEES WIN TWO

New York Puts Rollers Under Cleveland in Double Header, 10 to 3 and 11 to 3

New York—Returning home from a long road trip, the New York Americans made good use of their bats and twice defeated Cleveland by scores of 10 to 3 and 11 to 3.

Ruth's home run with the bases full in the third inning of the first game gave New York a lead which it never lost. Meusel's hitting was another feature, as he hit a home run, a triple, two doubles and two singles in the double header. Bush and Shawkey, the winning New York pitchers, were both hit hard at times, but were splendidly supported.

In the second game, the Yankees knocked out Lindsey in the sixth inning, and Schaute, a youngster from Juniata college, was called in. It was his first big league opportunity and he struck out Ruth, the first man to face him. In the next inning Meusel and Hoffman hit him for home runs but he fanned Ruth again in the eighth.

Geers Expects To Be In Sulky 20 More Years

By Roy Grove
Cleveland, O.—Have you all heard about this young feller, Edward Franklyn (alias "Pop") Geers?

He's broken into the Grand Circuit again. "I've made over half a million miles pushing horses around the circle with the driving reins," says Pop, "and that's just a starter."

Pops Geers is just now sneaking into his seventy-second year and it is only his forty-second campaign on the Grand Circuit.

PLENTY OF TIME
"I'm good for 15 or 20 more years yet," says Geers with a cigar accent, "and all that time I have before me I'll spend in the sulky, too."

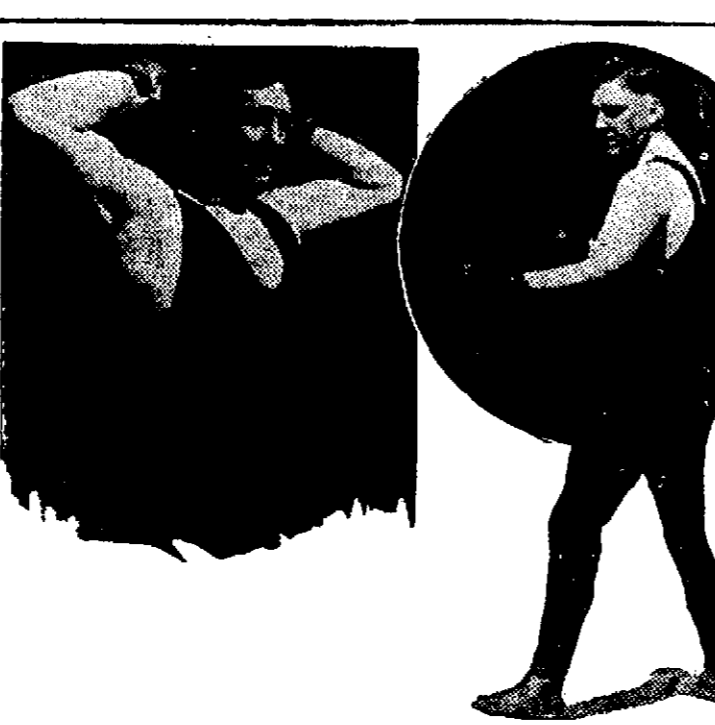

"When the time comes that I can't climb into the buggy I'll just hang around the barns. You couldn't get me away from my only friends, these horses."

FIRST RACE IN 1872
"The only time I know anything about gettin' old is when my friends smile at me and kid about it." In a half century with the trotters he has driven so many winners that he can't remember them.

He won his first race in 1872 with Little Dave, and his first Grand Circuit in 1881 with Annie W. His first two-minute performer was Napoleon Direct 1:59 3-4, at Columbus in 1915.

Since that time Pop Geers has driven more races than any other driver alive and the greatest number of Grand Circuit races.

Jess Is In Training

JESS WILLARD IN TWO TRAINING POSES

Every once in a while we hear a chirp about how Jess Willard is slipping up and down the coast, renting various cottages and such for training secretly.

Then we get a reverse chirp on how he AIN'T.

Here are the first photos of Big Jess in actual training.

He's working out at the American Legion arena, Hollywood, Cal.

Jess weighs 285 pounds and hopes to take of 30 pounds in four months, when he will be ready to take on all heavyweights. Jack Dempsey preferred.

Interlakes Preparing For Game With Freedom

Kirk Might Pitch in Place of Sternagel—Team Practicing Evenings

The Interlake County league baseball team is preparing for its game with Freedom next Sunday at Interlake park. The Fulpmakers have had the jinx on their trail all season but are working hard every evening in an effort to drive away the hoodoo. Wednesday and Thursday evenings were spent in strenuous infield and batting practice and the inner garden squad worked out in fine shape.

There may be one change in the lineup Sunday. O. Sternagel, who has been doing the pitching, has been bothered for some time by a sore arm. In case Sternagel is unable to do the mound work Kirk, the regular first baseman, will pitch. Kirk is an old man with the Interlakes and knows all the tricks of the trade both at the first sack and on the mound.

If this shift is made C. Sternagel will be moved from the outfield to take Kirk's place at first and Skall will go to the outer garden in place of C. Sternagel.

Second base and short stop will be well taken care of by John O'Hanlon and Eddie Sternagel respectively. This pair works well. O'Hanlon is a former Forester team member.

L. Day will be behind the bat and the outfield will be covered by Clarence Day, Bates and Skall.

LEONARD WANTED TO FIGHT HAMMER

Chicago—Benny Leonard, lightweight champion, who electrified boxing fans at Michigan City on Tuesday when he stopped Rocky Kansas of Buffalo in the eighth, may be seen in action in the middle west in the near future.

Promoters Fitzsimmons of Michigan City and Jim Mullen of Aurora are anxious to sign the 135 pound title holder with Ever Hammer, local lightweight, who took the measure of Charley White recently. Fitzsimmons wants to stage the match on Aug. 8, the date he had set aside for the Tom Gibbons-Harry Greb match. Mullen wants the contest in August, and indications are that one of the two promoters will get the match.

Billy Gibson, manager of Leonard, was in Chicago for a short spell on Wednesday and said the Aug. 5 date was a little too close after the Tandler match on July 27. However, Gibson said he will consider the match and expects to hold a conference with Promoter Fitzsimmons in the east the latter part of the month.

Cleveland Ball Fans Lose Sleep Over Poor Team

Baseball fans all over the country are losing sleep over Cleveland.

And when they do sleep they ask, "What's the matter?"

For the first time since Tris Speaker became manager of the Indians they are dangling around the second division.

In the 13 years that Speaker has been associated with major league baseball he has never finished with a game percentage as low as .500.

The big criticism is pitchers. Another cause is rookie pitchers. More than half the defeats up to June 1 were credited to recruits.

HONOR NEW MANAGER OF PITTSBURG NATIONALS

By Associated Press
Pittsburg — Bill McKechnie, new manager of the Pittsburg nationals, will be honored at Forbes Field here on July 12 when Pirate followers will observe "McKechnie Day". The celebration will be led by fans of Wilkesburg, the suburb where McKechnie lives.

Cleveland—Nedda's victory in the 2:05 trot featured the day's racing at North Randall.

LOCAL GOLFERS PREPARING FOR INTERSTATE MEET

Team Will Be Sent to Green Lake July 17—Clinedinst Cup Match Saturday

The members of the Riverview Country club will hold a golf match at the club's links Saturday. This is known as the Clinedinst cup match as the trophy awarded to the winner is presented by F. H. Clinedinst of Menasha. All the members of the club are eligible and the match is run on the handicap basis.

A team from the Riverview club will be sent to the Interstate golf tournament between the Northeastern Golf association and the Upper Peninsula association at the Tuscumbia Country club, Green Lake, Wis. July 17. Jack Stevens, Kenneth Dickinson, C. S. Dickinson and C. W. Spick, erman will represent the local club at the tournament.

A great deal of interest is centered on the tournament this year. The Upper Peninsula association has won the trophy for the last two years and if the Michigan golfers win it again this year the trophy will remain permanently with the northern clubs.

JOHNNY DUNDEE IN WIN OVER SHARKEY

New York — Johnny Dundee, rugged Italian boxer who usually meets men much heavier than himself, took on Jack Sharkey Thursday night, a boxer nearer his weight, and enjoyed a fine workout.

Sharkey, touted as coming featherweight champion and bristling with confidence since his draw with Vincent "Pepper" Martin, was cowed as soon as the first bell rang and spent most of the 15 rounds covering his face with both hands or running away from the fast moving Dundee.

Several times Sharkey took heart and swung heavily from his shoe tops, once sending Johnny into a spin, but each of his few rallies so tired him that he seemed helpless.

It was Dundee's 58th fight. He sent Sharkey to the floor for a short count in the fourth and the rest of the time pursued his ambling opponent, raining blows from both hands to head and to body whenever he came up. Dundee weighed in at 129 and Sharkey at 127.

ST. LOUIS CARDS WIN FROM DODGERS BY COUNT OF 14-2

Ruether, Star National League Pitcher, is Walloped for Thirteen Hits

St. Louis — The Cardinals pounded three Brooklyn pitchers for twenty hits, including eight doubles and one triple, and defeated the Dodgers, 14 to 2, in the first game of the series here on Thursday. Ruether, leading National league pitcher, was pounded for thirteen hits in four and one-third innings. Schultz had four hits in five trips to the plate, including two doubles. Score: Brooklyn .000100010—2 8 1
St. Louis .01308002—14 20 0
Batteries: Ruether, Decatur and Murray; and DeBerry; Pfeffer and Ainsmith.

GIANTS TRIM PIRATES
Pittsburg — The New York Giants opened their western trip with a 6 to 3 victory over Pittsburg on Thursday. Adams was hit hard and often, while Neft held the locals to five hits. Carey getting a double, triple and a home run. A sensational stop by Frisch was the fielding feature. Score: New York .02003000—6 11 0
Pittsburg .10100100—3 5 1
Batteries: Neft and Smith; Snyder; Adams, Cooper and Gooch.

OSHKOSH GOLFERS HONOR MISS WALL

Oshkosh—On Saturday night Miss Bernice Wall, who last week won the Women's Western Medalist championship from Mrs. Melvin Jones of Olympia Fields at the Oak Park Country club, was presented with a beautiful bunch of American Beauty roses from members of the club. Dr. G. A. Stratton making the presentation. Mrs. Jones had won the championship for two years and had she won it this year, it would have been hers permanently. The cup was on exhibition at the Oshkosh club Saturday night. Miss Wall also won the driving contest and the prize for the lowest score for eighteen holes.

Come On, Boys, If You Can Toss The Lucky Irons

A few days ago two expert quail players issued a challenge to all comers to play the game and were answered the next day by a couple of aspirants to the title of the best all around horse-shoe toasters in the community. The challengers made good their boast and came out of the match with a victory by winning two out of the three games played.

The boys still are itching for action and want to remind the throwers of the lucky irons that they are still on the deck and can throw as well as ever. Any strong armed gentlemen wanting to match their skill at the game can arrange time, place and particulars by phoning the C. & N. W. depot at Appleton Junction.

Chicago—Joe Burman and Mike Dundee were matched for 10 rounds at Aurora July 14.
New York—Johnny Dundee beat Jack Sharkey in 15 rounds.

GUM-DIPPED CORDS ~and Their High Mileage Records

MOST MILES per DOLLAR

The high mileage records of Firestone Cords continue to emphasize the fact that Firestone methods are different and better. These records, steadily increasing in number and in mileage totals, justify the Firestone contention that there is one best way to build tires.

Among the primary sources of Firestone extra mileage is double gum-dipping—the saturation of the cord plies in a vat of liquid gum—thus coating each cord and virtually eliminating internal heat and friction.

Another is Firestone air bag curing, with its 200 pound pressure, which places every cord accurately and equalizes the tension.

By blending the rubbers of different plantations and types, and by tempering it before mixing, Firestone men add still more mileage.

Many cord tires are good—a few are better—Firestone users say one is best.

Those who have already experienced Firestone mileage, have stopped shopping and experimenting—they have made these cords standard equipment. Investigate your friends' success with Firestone Cords—and buy your next tire accordingly. Come in and get your share of extra mileage.

KAUKAUNA THANKS APPLETON FIREMEN

Fire in Wood Yard is Extinguished by Rain Thursday Afternoon

Kaukauna—The fire which destroyed about 2,000 cords of pulpwood in the Thilmany yards Wednesday evening was extinguished late Thursday morning but the rain Thursday afternoon and evening has completely extinguished it. Although much wood was burned it was only a very small part of the entire amount in the yard and it is expected its loss will make little material difference in pulp making operations.

Officials of the company have expressed their appreciation of the help offered to check the fire and are grateful to the Appleton department for sending assistance. Cleanliness about the yards and neatness and foresight in piling the logs was a big factor which assisted the firemen in their work. There were no small piles of old wood and rubbish to watch.

Samuel Crouch, Harry Belza and George Skall left Thursday night for Minneapolis, where they will be employed for several months.

LAY NEW PLANKS ON TWO BRIDGES ACROSS RIVER

Kaukauna—New bridge planks are being placed on the two bridges crossing the Fox river from the south to north side. The city council a few weeks ago awarded the contract of furnishing the plank to the Jensen Lumber Co. for $2,200. The work was begun Wednesday on the Island bridge and when that is completed new planks will be laid on the Lawe bridge.

BUSINESSMEN CONTRACT FOR TELEGRAPH CLOCKS

Kaukauna—A few more businessmen have declared their intention of joining in the movement to install Western union clocks in business places in this city.

Paint That Pays for Itself

An unsightly barn in the farm yard is an eyesore and detracts from the good appearance of the farmer's home.

The well-kept, well-painted barn is a sign of thrift and attracts prosperity. It helps establish credit. Best of all, the paint pays by preserving the buildings.

STANDBY Barn Paint

is a superior mineral paint for barns, roofs, sheds, fences and similar surfaces. It has a good body, splendid covering qualities and great durability. Used according to directions it will wear long and retain its new appearance. Four good colors.

PUSH PLANS FOR INDUSTRY UNIT

Industrial Committee Will Work Out Details of Manufacturing Venture

Further plans for financing and erection of an industrial building in Appleton will be made by the industrial and transportation committee of the chamber of commerce at a meeting which is to be called within a day or two by Seymour Gmeiner, chairman.

Much favorable comment has been heard for the plan. The structure will contain lots which will be rented to small industries as a nominal fee. It is hoped in this way to aid infant industries already here and attract others.

This is considered a better means of providing for the city's growth than inviting boom propositions here with the accompanying sale of large blocks of stock, granting of bonuses or furnishing of free buildings. The small industries usually finance themselves and will grow with proper encouragement, until they may be counted at some future day with the leading firms here.

This Store's Greatest Semi-Annual Bargain Event— The Famous Summer Rummage Sale

Starts Next Monday--July 10th--Closes Saturday Night

The FORTY-NINTH Rummage Sale of this store opens a building packed with bargains to you Monday morning. Back of this Sale are FORTY-EIGHT previous events of the same kind. We have striven to make each one of these sales better and more valuable to you than the one which preceded it. You can remember many Rummage Sales of the past—and some of the extraordinary bargains you picked up then. Every day next week will show to you what the growth of a great store, and the prestige of forty-eight Rummage Sales have been able to accomplish.

For years the big inducement of Rummage has been the phenomenal reductions you know will be placed one some of our most attractive stocks. These reductions are yours again this year. AN ADDITIONAL ATTRACTION will be the large shipments of NEW and extremely desirable merchandise which we have secured at Rummage prices. Manufacturers who have heard of our Rummage Sales, have been induced to sell us surplus stocks at very low figures. These prices are on staple goods that are not ordinarily included in any sales. The counters will be loaded with them all next week—new ones each day.

The dual nature of this Rummage Sale will be the most powerful attraction we have ever been able to offer. The whole store has never before been so thoroughly included in the series of Rummage Bargains. Whether you shop at the opening hour Monday morning, or the closing hour Saturday night, there will be a wonderful array of super-bargains that are investments for thrifty buyers. The usual rules of Rummage Week go into effect Monday morning and continue throughout the week. The Rummage Sale News will be published on each night of the week, excepting Saturday.
